WHO WE ARE
Ujima Foundation for Training & Development is a training institute that works to empower orphaned youngsters so that they can get a job and support themselves and the children under their care. These youths become role models to their siblings and the community hence undoubtedly convey the message that Ujima is trying to spread: “best support is self-support”

Dear Friends,

Thank you for making 2018 yet another remarkable year for Ujima Foundation! This year marked great strides the organisation made in increasing its impact.

Our dedicated staff has done an incredible job at expanding our outreach while strengthening our programs and services. In 2018 we took big steps:

- We have once again been able to increase our revenue funding our training program by 13% to a total of Ksh 30,585,821 and reached a total of 356 youths who are responsible for taking care of 1,170 siblings and children of their own.
- Within the reporting period, we have managed to develop an additional income generating project in Kisumu - A teaching restaurant.
- We extended our work into Mombasa and Homa Bay county to meet the increased demand for youth development programs and growing employability skills gap among the peri urban youths.

We are proud of this accomplishments and exited about the road ahead. We hope you are too.

In this report you will read about our champions our awesome youth, learn about their resilience and success, and read about our program outcomes.

We strive to do more, and we strive to do it better for the hundreds of young people we serve and support annually. Most importantly, we continue to open the doors of opportunity for our youth to walk through and thrive.

We are very grateful for the support from our sponsors and donors for their role in realizing the ultimate goal of Ujima to support as many youth to become self-reliant and responsible citizens of Kenya.

We can and do celebrate these gains, even as we redouble our efforts to achieve even more. With your continued support, we will.

On behalf of Ujima trainees, volunteers, staff and the Board, Thank you.

Charles J. Odhiambo
Executive Director
Alumni strengthening
The Ujima student alumni organized a panel Discussion with leading hotel managers in Kisumu town. The panel discussion was moderated by senior staff from Ujima. The discussions created an opportunity for the trainees to interact with the managers and show case Ujima product. Ten employers were in attendance. The alumni have been very integral in acting as ambassadors of the training program. Ujima actively supports the alumni and facilitates quarterly meetings. Through this effort, Ujima has realized the full potential of working closely with them. In the process, they have assisted Ujima in track and trace, offering employment opportunities to Ujima trainees who have graduated as well as marketing and giving motivational talks to the trainees in session.

Graduation
Ujima had a very successful and color full graduation in 2018. Among the invited guests were employers who pledged support to Ujima Foundation program. A total of 256 trainees graduated.

Volunteers and interns
Ujima through support from Edukans received a volunteer whose assignment was do an exploratory study in view of developing a business case exploring the benefits the labour market players get in engaging Ujima’s work based learning. Some of the findings were:-
- To ‘do good’ and to serve industry needs.
- The employers benefit from the productivity the students bring, together with the challenge and new insights they bring to the existing staff.
- Beneficial for recruitment, as it enables employers to save on recruitment and training costs, avoid bad hiring decisions and to create a pool of suitable candidates to recruit from in times of shortages.
- Moreover, training the students is also considered beneficial to employers as it is a way to contribute to society and to a form of Corporate Social Responsibility.

The interaction between the Volunteer and the labour market players enhanced better understanding and working together with Ujima trainees.

Ujima has developed a training restaurant at Kisumu office. The restaurant shall be opened before the close of year 2019.
We are currently working on licenses and doing final touches before the opening. The restaurant shall be used for practical training to Ujima trainees as well possible income generation.

African Visionary Fellowship (AVF)
Ujima through Segal Family Foundation - African Visionary fellowship, made a three-minute video promotion that shall be used to show case what Ujima does through its networks of funders. The short clip can be viewed through the link

In the year 2018, through support form Segal, Ujima was represented at the Skoll world forum in the United Kingdom, Perrenial Fellowship in the United states and other AVF meetings in Kenya and Rwanda. Ujima also attended the Segal Family Foundation annual general meeting in New Jersey. Through this partnership, Ujima has attracted two new donors from the United states.

Our Approach: Ujima Model

A grassroots innovation that redefines conventional development approaches

Ujima’s Strategic Niche is instituted on promoting a model that enhances self-support. This is reflected in the way of working at organizational management level as well as at program level. A fully fledged social enterprise in form of camps and restaurants strategically supports Ujima’s social course.

At program level, the Training programs enables youth, unemployed and unskilled with marketable skills to effectively compete for jobs in the hospitality industry hence ensuring that there is self-support.

An inclusive and cohesive relationship between the partners is developed as a key driver for success and for the long-term sustainability of the training and skills development.

The best support! Is self Support!
Our programs

The Girls@Work Program

The role of the private sector to address societal issues and to contribute to sustainable development has been increasing. These trends have resulted in a promotion of Work-based learning (WBL) form of VET, in which youth acquire skills primarily on the job instead of in a classroom setting.

The rationale behind WBL is that youth learn the relevant skills demanded by the labour market, to address the skills gap - the gap between skills demanded and skills supplied - and create a smoother transition to the labour market.

The Girls@Work project targets out of schools and vulnerable girls with limited opportunities and linking them with the job market. This project targets 525 girls in three years through the Work Based Learning approach (WBL).

In WBL, students are not trained in the classroom, but by experienced masters on the work floor, who know all the ins and outs of their trade. This approach is used for trades such as cooking, tailoring and hairdressing that are learnt best in practice. It is well suitable for students who do not easily learn in a classroom setting. Because working masters provide the training, the skills learnt meet the demand from the labour market increasing the possibilities of employment by the masters.

The masters are trained by Ujima on pedagogical and didactical skills, to enable them create a positive learning environment and to meet the criteria for mentoring and assessment of the trainees.

The Youth@Work Program

Through understanding of our community’s challenges, we have developed the Ujima’s method through the philosophy of the 3H. The head, the hand and the Heart a holistic youth development program as a pathway to employment: an integrated support system that provides orphaned youths who are burdened with the responsibilities of taking care of their siblings with the tools they need to get a job and keep that job.

The Youth@Work program has four components: Orientation, in which trainees are introduced to the knowledge and attitudes necessary to find and keep employment; Skills Centre in which they work at appointed industrial attachment sites; Good Citizenship in which we find within the support network, role models that volunteer to mentor trainees in balancing family responsibility, work and the practical challenges of life; and Job Hunting in which our staff mediate the processes of marketing one self, securing and keeping new employment.

A job to an Ujima trainee means that they are able to support themselves and the children under their care, make informed decision and shun destructive life styles and become participating members in the society and role models to their peers.

This approach has a proven impact: A $ 600 investment in an Ujima Youth results in a sustainable $ 720 yearly income to the Youth. Better Accommodation, health, food and most of all children living in a family set up.

Sexual and reproductive healthcare empowers the youths to make informed decisions about their bodies.

Internships and Job exposure create a safe space for academic and life skills development.

Entrepreneurship training helps students attain and navigate through self employment.

Employability training secured training facility that assure the foundation of a youths well-being.

Support Net work assures the youths are supported through out the program. Youths are attached to mentors.

Orphaned head of house hold youths with limited opportunities to access training, Burdened with responsibilities of taking care of her siblings.

Job hunting and mediation places out-of-school youth into rewarding employment.
Improving access to Education and Training

Results year 2018

In 2018, 356 young people (73 male and 282 female) accessed training in Ujima compared to 260 trainees the previous year. This represents a 37 percent increase attributed to the introduction of Girls at Work project which trained 100 adolescent girls in Work Based Learning.

January intake however was mostly affected by the repeated elections disruptions. The target for the year however was 240 beneficiaries. Despite the challenges we thus managed to surpass our target. The completion rate was 90 per cent and 58 percent of the graduates gained employment in less than 3 months the male students earning an average of Ksh. 9,680 and Ksh. 8,475 for the female per month.

Pathway to employment

Ujima Foundation targets youth, young women and men between the age range of 18 to 24 years, who are faced with the responsibility of taking care of their siblings because their parents have passed away.

Ujima trains these youth on employability skills and works together with over 100 employers in Nakuru and Kisumu, mainly in the hospitality industry, for attachments and job placements.
Youths reached
Youth focus: Seth Omondi Omotto

I was born 25 years ago in Kendu-Bay Karachuonyo and was brought up in a very unpretentious background.

I went to Kamolo Primary school and later joined Kowuor Secondary School in Kendu Bay. I was brought up by my adorable mother Mary Atieno Odondi (She was also known as MAMA mboga in Nairobi), She worked very hard to provide for the loyal family after the death of my father Ezra Odondi Omotto in 1990. My mother later perished when I was 12 years old by then I was in class six.

When my mother passed on, my lovely grandmother Silvia Gowa Omotto had to take care of us. My sister had to stay with another relative in Kisumu. We called her aunty Judith. Life was very hard, I hard to burn charcoal so that i get money to pay school fee and buy books and also help my grandmother to get food on the table.

After I finished class 8, my grandmother really struggled to make sure I get to Secondary school. Unfortunately she died when I was in form 2 and I had to make sure I finish my high school despite the peer pressure which was around me. I finished my high school through hardship and I thank those who help me out, i.e. Uncle Sakayo Owi, Aunty Judith Arunga and family friend Mbuya Choka.

One day when I was slashing the compound of Phoebe Auma's mother to make some money, she asked me if am willing to work in a hotel, and I was asking myself “how will I pay the fee for college?” She told me she knows a training institute that trains orphans to get jobs in hotels.

She later referred me to Mr. Harrison Agundo who was in Ujima Foundation Kisumu. That is the day I had to get money and traveled to Kisumu for the intake interview. After the interview I traveled back home and after 2 days, recruitment officer Mr. Harrison Agundo called and informed me that I have I have qualified to join Ujima Foundation. Happiness often sneak in through a door you didn't know you left open. I was elated!

After I finished my training at Ujima, I was sent to Kiboko Bay Resort- Kisumu for my internship. I later got a job at the same place in the kitchen department as a cook. I later worked at Palmers Hotel before a job opening took me to Nairobi where I applied and got a job in UAE.

Today am a chef working in Qatar at The Pearl Qatar. I am proud of Ujima Foundation as they opened doors for me. Now I can pay my school fee and further my culinary education as I learn different cuisines. Hard work pays.

I thank all the Ujima Foundation Stars and staff for the support they gave me.

"Be thankful for what you have; you'll end up having more. If you concentrate on what you don't have, you will never, ever have enough"

God Bless.
In the year 2018, out of the 356 Youths who accessed training, a total of 138 secured employment within the year. The bulk of which graduated late 2017.

So far 68 trainees have secured job from the 2018 January and May intakes. The September intake are still on attachment in various outlets.

In 2018, the trainees were employed spread in 14 counties. Majority of them were employed in Kisumu County at 54%, followed by Nakuru County 20% and Homabay County 11%.

The mean income for 2018 employed graduates was Ksh. 10,200 representing a 20% increase from the previous year. After six months of employment, there is no significant income disparity between the male and female graduates employed.

There is 100% transition to employment for our trainees 12 months after graduating from our employability program with 88% of them earning Ksh. 5,000 and above per month.

About 47% of our trainees are working in the service department followed by housekeeping and kitchen. Front office jobs are picking up and these can be attributed to our digital skills training. Our entrepreneurship training is also equipping our trainees with the necessary skills to start and grow their businesses.

Post training income for the graduates represents over 1,200 percent increase enabling them to support themselves and their siblings.
Through the entrepreneurship program, Ujima organises quarterly mock competitions among the trainees on best business ideas. This creates innovation mindset that would help them in their businesses. The fair also creates a learning, presentation and pitching component that is geared towards not only creating confidence in starting a business but also articulating ideas to prospective investors.

In 2018, we held three business pitching competitions with support from DOT. In future, the ambition is to set up prizes to be won by the best business idea(s) and possibilities of giving start up capital for the same in a bid to not only prepare trainees for employment but also creating employment through them.

Some of the alumni of Ujima are already running successful businesses and have employed other trainees as well. One of the most successful is M and M services- an outside catering businesses that has won tenders for weddings, birthday parties, funerals among others and give on and off casual and contract jobs to between 10-15 youths per function.

To create more internship and job opportunities in the market, Ujima has also developed a training restaurant at Kisumu office. The restaurant shall be opened in year 2019 and shall be used for practical training to Ujima trainees as well possible income generation.
Youth Focus: Alice Wairimu

Before Ujima I was doing casual jobs. The jobs were not specific since they were different everyday. I had a few people who occasionally calling me to do house chores and they would pay me a daily rate.

I would also go looking for jobs in restaurants and small Vibandas (makeshift food courts)

I love cooking and that’s why I loved looking for jobs in food dens. This was because I had house rent to pay and my siblings to take care of. There are times when I would go without getting a job but I never gave up.

When I heard about Ujima I knew that’s what I wanted but I was in a dilemma. I talked to my Aunt who stayed nearby and she agreed to support me by paying the rent since Ujima does not allow boarders.

At Ujima, I have learned ideas on business, communication as well as working together among other things. So many things have changed in my life.

Through other trainees word of encouragement I am confident that there are jobs and when I finish the programme life will be totally different. I don’t necessarily have to be employed, I can as well start my own business.
4 Stakeholder involvement: Linking and learning

Labour market

We are happy to share that Ujima has been reaching out and partnering with other organisations in a bid to increase its impact. Through Kazingumu CBO, HOVIC and KOWSP we have recruited beneficiaries in other neighbouring counties of Homa Bay and Siaya consequently recruiting employers in those religions as well.

Ujima has also forged a partnership with Ujana 360, a Program that supports the embedding of Whole Youth Development (WYD) in the Technical Vocational Education and Training (TVET) for increased success in career and life. It brings together 12 Vocational Training centers (VTC) operating in different counties both government and privately owned in developing a curricular that supports Whole Youth Development.

Through targeted social and systemic change, the youth will increase their chances to create, access and retain jobs, as well as lead successful lives and contribute to the common good of our society.

The ambition is that the 12 institutions implement the project and become model VTCs in the regions they are operating and be champions in WYD programs that other VTCs will emulate.

Training workplace supervisors on pedagogical and didactic skills

To increase the quality of training during internships Ujima included training of workplace supervisors on didactical and pedagogical skills through the support of Edukans. However the availability of the supervisors at once to make it more economical has been quite a challenge. We however managed to trained a total of 24 supervisors within the year and hope to surpass this number incrementally over the years.

Internship and Job Hunting

During, before and after internships, the job hunter makes regular visits to the employers. These visits forms part of monitoring and evaluation of the program and assess the progress of training. It also forms part of marketing our trainees and recruiting and maintaining employers.

Both scheduled and impromptu visits assure that the trainee’s stays on course and that employers provide necessary feedback to better inform our programs.

The project manager also makes these visits to cement the relationship between the labour market players and our training institute.

Come back sessions

During the attachment, the trainees are required to come back to the training centre once a week for debriefing as well as to share their experiences. These is facilitated by the Job hunter. Managers and supervisors from the labour market in diverse fields were also invited to share their experiences and give technical support during this sessions. This has improved the link between Ujima Foundation and the employers.

Certification and accreditation of ICT courses

In addition to employability training, Ujima also gives basic ICT skills to the trainees. Ujima in partnership with DOT (Digital opportunity trust) have rolled out computer training to Ujima beneficiaries. There is more need to allocate more hours to the training and register the students to accredited examining body.

Training of teachers to be certified trainers

Ujima is following up with the Kenya technical trainer’s college (KTTC) on the best way to certify Ujima trainers. National Industrial Training Authority (NITA) however recognises Ujima teachers as certified trainers.

Mombasa Visit

Ujima management together with Edukans visited Mombasa in August to carry out a midterm assessment and work out strategies to make Mombasa project more vibrant and reach more youths. Meetings were held with various stakeholders including the beneficiaries, the county government, employers and other partners. The key deliverables and findings were:

1. A refined work /action plan with timelines for key activities
2. A need to engage a local to spear head Mombasa operations
3. More Emphasis on the saloon and beauty care trade in Mombasa as opposed to food production.
4. Partnership with the county government relevant line ministries.
Maili Saba Camp

Maili Saba camp is luxury tented camp and acts as a skill center for Ujima Foundation. It a social business that supports Ujima Foundation in the following ways:

- Acts a practical center for internships and jobs for Ujima Trainees
- Acts as an Income generating activity (IGA) and a strategy for financial independence.
- Show cases to the labor market players that what Ujima Foundation does, Best support is Self Support!

About 60 Percent of Maili Saba Camp staff are Ujima Beneficiaries. The contested election of year 2017 spilling over to year 2018 affected the net income of the lodge.
Ujima Bake House

Located in Nakuru County, within Maili Saba Camp, the bakery acts as a skill center for giving practical experience to our trainees.

The bakery makes sour dough bread and also as part of Maili Saba Camp, gives team building activities to corporate guests and baking classes. To make the most out of it, Ujima is planning to move the bakery to Kisumu.

Ujima Restaurant

Located in Kisumu, The restaurant sits 30 pax and is run by Ujima Graduates. The restaurant offers practical experience in a real world situation with paying guests.

It is located within the compound of the training center giving a safe and conducive space where the trainees can learn from their mistakes and grow to be professional hoteliers. The restaurant is also an income generating project of the Foundation.
